SAVED AT SEA; WILL TELL STORY AT VICTORY LOAN RALLY HERE ON SUNDAY

Weather permitting, Blairmore's grand Victory Loan rally will take place on Sunday afternoon next at the Blairmore bandstand at 3 o'clock, when the whole populace is expected to attend and hear the various speakers and entertainment artists. Should the weather be unfit for the open air meeting, the Columbus hall will be the alternative.

We understand that the R.C.A.F. band from Macleod will be in attendance, also Lloyd Cooper, eminent English pianist; Sergt. (Jack) Ross Seath, baritone, and two lady artists from the air force.

The main speaker will be Able Seaman William Ritson-Bennett, pictured on this page. Ritson-Bennett was a member of the crew of the Canadian corvette Louisburg when she was sunk by enemy action in the Mediterranean while carrying out her duty in convoy operations in connection with the stirring North African campaign, a brief message in this connection is given below his picture. Ritson-Bennett is but 23 years of age and a member of a widely known Calgary family. He was saved, but three other Albertans gave their lives in that action, adding much to the glory of the Canadian Navy.

A huge throng is expected to hear him on Sunday afternoon.

THE SINKING OF THE LOUISBURG

The sinking of the Canadian corvette Louisburg was not defeat, nor was it a disastrous loss of life; it was above all victory, for the Louisburg gave protection and life to a badly needed supply convoy, which arrived with essentials for the Allied Forces which are now crushing Rommel in Tunisia.

To you—the sinking of my ship, the Louisburg, was another soon forgotten headline in your local newspaper; to Ottawa it was epic Canadian Naval History, for she was carrying Canada's fight for Victory far from our yet peaceful shores. She was the first Canadian ship to enter the Mediterranean and the first to die there; also the first to be sunk by a torpedo dive bomber; but to us that sailed on her, she was lost, not as a tragedy, but as the price we had to pay for the right to our Canadian heritage and our freedoms, and for Victory.

—A.B. Seaman W. M. Ritson-Bennett.

LOAN SALESMEN READY TO MAKE TOTAL CANVASS

Ottawa, April 19. — With the objective of the Fourth Victory Loan much higher than in any previous campaign, officials of the National War Finance Committee have revealed that its sales organization is now geared to the peak of perfection. Hundreds of salesmen are ready to make the most thorough canvass of its kind ever attempted. Plans call for 100 per cent coverage of all prospective bond buyers in Canada, and the goal is not less than 2,000,000 individual subscribers. Every home in every city, town and village should be prepared to receive a visit from a Victory Loan salesman.

One of the features of this sales campaign will be the effort made by salesmen to have every prospect buy two bonds, one from ready cash available, and a second on the installment plan out of current earnings.

The double purchase plan springs from the great need for increased sales of bonds to individuals if the minimum objective of $1,100,000,000 is to be topped. In the last Victory Loan campaign the general public bought approximately $350,000,000 worth of bonds. This time at least $500,000,000 worth must be sold to individuals.

Realizing, too, that there are a large number of Canadians who have never bought a single bond since the war started, renewed emphasis is being placed on the job of educating those members of the community. Weekly newspapers, magazines and periodicals are carrying advertisements which take readers back to the beginnings of war finance. Answers are given to questions which might arise in the mind of a man who has not already bought bonds and is not familiar with them.

As one prominent executive of the National War Finance Committee explained, patriotic feeling rather than self-interest will assure the success of the Victory Loan campaign. While the purchase of a bond is the act of a wise man building up a reserve for his family, it also affords him an opportunity of reaping the highest rate of interest compatible with the safety of his investment. The patriotic purchase of bonds at this stage of the war is absolutely necessary to hasten victory, to save the lives of many of our boys overseas, and to make sure that when they come to the great final struggle with the enemy on European soil they are not handicapped by the lack of a single shell or piece of equipment.

BELLEVEUE WOMAN DIES IN CALGARY

Word was received on Tuesday evening of the death of Mrs. Laura Burns McDonald, who passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edwin McDonald, at 310 Sixth Avenue West, in Calgary, after a lengthy illness. She was in her sixty-first year. Born in Halifax, N.S., she came west to Bankhead, Alberta, in 1909. After fifteen years there, she moved to Bellevue, where she had lived since. For the last two months she has been with her daughter in Calgary.

Surviving are her husband, William McDonald; three sons, Leslie, of Coleman; Clyde, with the R.C.E. in Calgary; and Everett, of Camrose; and seven grandchildren. Also three brothers, James B., of England; Harry, of Edmonton; and George, of Lethbridge; and a sister, Mrs. Charles Ripley, of Edmonton.

The remains were laid to rest in Queen's Park cemetery, Calgary, on Thursday afternoon.

Down in Boston a truck driver had his driver's license suspended for one month for running over and killing a cat.

Following his graduation from the Olds School of Agriculture on the completion of a two years' course, Edward H. Burles has returned to his home near Cowley.

Miss Maisie E. McIntosh, R.N., left Edmonton on Thursday by plane to follow her profession in a hospital in Yellowknife, Yukon Territory. She is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McIntosh, formerly of Cowley, now of Lethbridge, and has recently been on the staff of the Royal Alexandra hospital in Edmonton.

BLAIRMORE SCHOOL LEADS

In the first monthly war stamp sales competition being carried on by the Pass schools, Blairmore main school seemed an easy winner, and on Wednesday afternoon, at a fitting ceremony, was awarded the Lions' club prize, pictures of Churchill and Roosevelt, which had been on display in a local store window for several days.

The smaller pictures of the two statesmen were donated by J. A. Brusset, general manager of the West Canadian Collieries. The $5 war savings certificate, won by Polly Johnisky, was the gift of Blairmore Elks' lodge, and presented by R. C. Old, president of the Alberta Elks' Association.

Standing of the various schools of the district in percentages was: Blairmore Main 436, Blairmore West 326, Hillcrest 316, Bellevue 267, Frank 232, Coleman Central 187, Coleman West 135.

Blairmore room winners in the contest were Grade 10 central, and Grades 1 to 4 west end.

The main presentation speech was made by Mr. E. R. McFarland, of Lethbridge, who is chairman of the public relations branch of the National War Finance committee for Southern Alberta, who in his very able manner complimented Blairmore Central upon their success, also expressing appreciation of other schools in the district for their really splendid effort. Other speakers included W. H. Chappell, J. R. Smith and a representative of the armed forces.

The Blairmore Air Cadets bugle band was in attendance and rendered good service. Quite a number from Coleman, Bellevue and Hillcrest were present.

Mr. McFarland was accompanied by Flt. Lieut. R. Thompson, of No. 7 S. F.T.S., Macleod, representing Wing Commander Brown, and by Sergt-Major E. Peterson, of No. 8 B. & G. School, Lethbridge.

Owing to inclement weather, the plan to have an R.C.A.F. plane drop a flag in salute to the winners had to be cancelled for the day, so the flag was dropped on Thursday afternoon, in the presence of a crowd of citizens, the flag landing on the roof of the L. Beigan residence.

The programme concluded with the National Anthem.

A number of district Masons accompanied J. R. McLeod, district deputy, when he visited the Macleod lodge on Wednesday evening. The party was joined at Blairmore by F. T. Britney, district deputy for B.C., and D. Dicks, of Fernie. Mr. Britney resided in Macleod a number of years ago, and renewed many friendships during the evening.

The Royal Air Force

A NOTABLE EVENT of the past few weeks was the recent celebration of the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Royal Air Force. On April 1, 1918, the Royal Flying Corps and the Royal Naval Air Service were amalgamated into the R.A.F. This was just seven months before the end of the First World War, and it was a critical period in the last German drive in France. This new air force played an important part in turning back the Germans and at the close of the war it was recognized as the greatest air force in the world. As it observed its 25th anniversary it again occupied this position. The great German war machine met its first defeat at the hands of the R.A.F. in the Battle of Britain, and since then the Germans have learned many times that in planning their strategy, they sadly underestimated the strength of this once-dispersed air force. In 1918 the R.A.F. had 13,500 planes, 24,000 officers and 188,000 men of other ranks. Figures on its present strength are not made public, but it is known that vast expansion has taken place both in the number of machines and in personnel.

R.A.F. Is True Empire Force

Thousands of Canadians, Australians, New Zealanders and men from other parts of the Commonwealth have joined the R.A.F., and it is rightly called "an instrument of all the Empire." Among the Canadians who were with the Royal Air Force when it was first established were the two famous aces, "Billy" Bishop and "Billy" Barker, and they, with many others from this Dominion fought with the R.A.F. until the end of the First Great War. Today, in addition to the large number of Canadians who belong to the R.A.F., there are several Royal Canadian Air Force squadrons attached to it. Canada's satisfaction in the achievements of the R.A.F. was expressed in the message sent by Air Marshal L. S. Broadbent, C.B., D.F.C., Chief of Air Staff, R.C.A.F., which said in part: "We of the Royal Canadian Air Force share our pride in this occasion not only because we serve with you and alongside you, but because on this day the Royal Canadian Air Force embarks upon its 20th year as a permanent arm of His Majesty's service in Canada. With my expression of admiration for your accomplishments, there goes also an expression of our confidence that success will continue to attend the enterprises of our Air Forces until the victory is won."

Bombers Carry Heavy Loads

The brilliant record of the R.A.F. in the present war is well known. Beginning with the Battle of Britain, and continuing to the present gigantic air offensive over occupied Europe, the Royal Air Force has contributed greatly to the success of the Allied cause, and in it lies much of our hope for ultimate victory. In 1943 over 50,000 fighter sorties were made by the R.A.F. from Britain alone, and in the past two years its bombers have sunk over 1,250,000 tons of enemy shipping and destroyed around 2,000 factories and industrial works in Germany. Bombing operations have steadily increased in tempo, and in the month of February over 10,000 tons of bombs were dropped by the R.A.F. In the Allied offensive in North Africa, the protection given by the R.A.F. to the ships carrying men and supplies was so effective that not one ship was lost in the entire operations. Much tribute has been paid to the gallant men who make up this force. On its 25th anniversary, members of the R.A.F. took over the guard at Buckingham Palace for the first time in history. On this occasion, His Majesty the King said that, "theirs is the spirit that attains the stars, however hard the way may be."

HEALTH LEAGUE OF CANADA

EATING RATIONALLY

Present advice from Ottawa indicates that meat rationing will not cover liver, heart and kidney. If a restricted use of the muscle meats leads to a greater use of organ meats a distinct nutritional advance will have been made.

Everyone by now has been informed that liver, calves, beef or pork is good food. Most people know that pork liver is even more valuable from a nutrition standpoint than the rest of the pig. Very few people, however, know just how good it is. Three essential food elements apt to be lacking in the Canadian diet are iron, Vitamin A and riboflavin. In the light of that fact the following table is extremely interesting:

Average adults daily need . . . 12 mgms. 5000 units 2.2 mgms.
1 small serving of liver (3.3 oz.) . . . 113 mgms. 7050 units 2.07 mgms.

No other single food packs so much of the protective food elements into so small a space. So everyone should eat it at least once a week. If the family doesn't like it straight try one of these recipes:

Liver Loaf
1 lb. beef or pork liver . . . 1 cup tomato or vegetable juice
2 cups bread crumbs . . . 1 teaspoon salt
1 medium onion
Put liver through the meat grinder. Add bread crumbs, onion, tomato and salt. Put in greased baking dish and place in pan containing warm water. Bake slowly 30 to 40 minutes.

Liver Salad
Chopped cooked liver with raw onion
Chopped celery
Mix with salad dressing and serve on lettuce

Liver Soup
For one serving heat 1/2 cup chopped liver in 1 cup milk until liver is cooked. Add butter and chopped onion.
Do not boil.

Liver Sandwiches

Use recipe for salad, omitting the chopped celery. Spread on thinly buttered whole wheat bread.

SMILE AWHILE

"I'm going to kiss you before I go," said the young man who had outstayed his welcome.

"Do it now while I'm still young," replied the girl wearily.

Mrs. White — "Mrs. Gray's husband didn't leave her much when he died, did he?"
Mrs. Black — "No, but he left her often while he was alive."

Army Sergeant: "Have you any preference?"
Draftee: "Yes, sir."

Army Sergeant: "What would you like to be?"
Draftee: "An ex-serviceman with a pension."

"I get wonderful recipes," gushed the bride who was entertaining her family for the first time. "I got one for Egyptian stew and one for a never-fail stain remover this morning."

"Which is this?" asked little Willie, tasting the stew with which he had just been served.

"Answer me, Clara," he said in a moment of passion, "I can bear this suspense no longer."

"Answer him, Clara," echoed the old man in the hall, thinking of the gas and coal bills. "I can bear this expense no longer."

Wife (in back seat)—Don't drive so fast, George!

Husband—Why not?

Wife — That policeman on a motorcycle behind us can't get by.

As the young lovers lingered in the twilight, he asked anxiously: "Darling, have your people agreed to our marriage?"

"Not yet," the girl replied, as she nestled closer to him; "father hasn't said anything and mother's waiting to contradict him."

Man: Watha cryin' for?

Boy: I lost my nickel.

Man: Where?

Boy: In Virginia.

Man: How come?

Boy: She swallowed it.

Caller—May I speak to the lady of the house, please?

Maid—There's no lady of the house any more; she's a lieutenant.

"What became of that grocery bill?" asked the bank teller of his wife.

"I sent it back, dear."

"Sent it back? Why?"
"I wrote across it 'Insufficient funds,' just as you do with over-drawn cheques. Wasn't that all right?"

Employer (Interviewing applicant for job)—Know anything about electricity?
"Yes, sir."

"What's an armature?"
"A chap who boxes for nothing!"

Husband—What makes my life so miserable
Wife—You have got me.
Husband—That's right.

Single Men Will Be In Army Or Essential Industry

Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, labor minister, told a gathering of Niagara district manufacturers that within six months there would be "very few" men or women in this country not in essential jobs.

He said that all single men are being re-examined and reclassified and will be either in the army or essential industry. He added that single men would not be allowed to return to non-essential jobs if they were turned down by the army.

Conscientious objectors, Mr. Mitchell said, would be taken from camps and put on farms to help the war effort. Use of prisoner-of-war labor was also under consideration, the minister said.

Fourth Victory Loan Same As Former Issues

Hamilton, Ont.—G. W. Spinyney, chairman of the national war finance committee, deflated a rumor he claimed was being spread concerning Canada's impending Fourth Victory Loan and scored rumor-mongering in time of war as "a curse" in an address prepared for delivery here at a loan rally.

"The outstanding rumor in this campaign," he said, "is that the three per cent. bonds differ from previous issues and cannot be turned into cash until the official redemption date. Nothing could be further from the truth. Fourth Victory Loan bonds, like earlier issues, may be sold for cash at any time."

Continuing, he said, "The redemption date mentioned in the official announcement made by Mr. Tisley refers only to the time after which the government has the option of paying off the whole issue before maturity at 100 cents on the dollar."

Mr. Spinyney said he had observed with some "curiosity and interest" that whenever a loan was about to be launched "rumors of a malicious type increase in intensity." He pointed out that "one could almost plot a curve showing that this rumor crop rises sharply pre-loan and slumps off after the operation is over."

He said such stories were "in all probability of enemy origin, for similar stories have been set afloat in the United States."

Mr. Spinyney said the success of Canada's Fourth Victory Loan is of more vital significance to the war program and the future of Canada than any previous financial undertaking in the nation's history.

The loan, opening April 26 with a minimum objective of $1,100,000,000, has the double duty of providing funds for war needs and preventing inflation, Mr. Spinyney said. With spending power high and available civilian goods becoming constantly scarcer, Canada faced a "perfect set-up" for inflation unless action was taken to avoid it.

"This is why it is so vitally necessary that this loan and subsequent loans must, to a greater extent than formerly, gather up this excess spending power and divert it to the war program," he said.

"That is why every effort is being made to avoid, as far as possible, financing the war needs through the sale of securities to the banks, for, beyond certain limits, this is inflationary finance."

Improving Plant For Taking Oil From Tar Sands

Ottawa.—The Dominion government has appropriated $500,000 to spend on improving a plant taking oil from the Alberta tar sands and hopes to recover costs from paving material produced for the Alaska highway.

Munitions Minister Howe told the House of Commons.

In a detailed review of examinations of the oil possibilities of the tar sand area, the minister said difficulties remained to be overcome before extensive oil production could be expected. A process for developing the sand resources was sought, and the present plant, with improvements, would be used as a pilot plant.

Mr. Howe read a report of investigations conducted for the government by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company which advised continued exploratory work in the area to ascertain the richest deposits of sand from the oil production standpoint.

Judging by what had been said about them sometimes, Mr. Howe said one would think oil was running out of the Alberta tar sands and they had only to be tapped.

"The facts do not bear out any such idea," he continued.

Mining methods, separation of bitumen from the sands, treatment of the bitumen to produce marketable products, removal or reduction of the high sulphur content of the crude product, disposal of the over-burden on the sands, and transportation at reasonable cost were problems in relation to the tar sands which remained to be solved.

Abasand Oil Ltd., completed a plant at the sands in 1938, but various difficulties had been encountered. Company representatives consulted

NATIONAL INCOME

Ottawa.—Canada's national income reached an all-time monthly high of $700,000,000 in February, equivalent to an annual rate of about $8,400,000,000, the Dominion bureau of statistics said in an economic review of the first two months of the year.

Post-War Period Will Be Difficult For Industry

Ottawa.—The Canadian Manufacturers' Association said in a brief presented to the senate reconstruction committee that employment in Canadian manufacturing during the post-war period is likely to exceed that of pre-war years but probably cannot be maintained at the war level unless the tremendous wartime expansion of Canada's foreign trade is continued. The brief outlined problems which Canadian manufacturers expect to face after the war.

The best chance "of providing maximum employment depends on encouragement of individual initiative, effort and thrift," the brief said. There was no evidence that complete state planning could be adopted without government regimentation of the whole economic system and the lives of its individuals.

The association said it recognized that some wartime controls could not be removed immediately after the war ended but they should be lifted as soon as possible.

The study of post-war problems now was likely to aid, rather than impede the prosecution of the war.

"It seems the main task of manufacturers will be the reconversion of Canada's expanded wartime manufacturing facilities to provide jobs in private industry by supplying peacetime goods and services," the association said.

Under war conditions the number of persons employed in manufacturing had increased from 650,000 to at least 1,250,000 and the gross production of manufactured goods had gone from $3,500,000,000 a year to about $5,000,000,000. Some 4,000 Canadian manufacturers were engaged in direct or indirect war work.

"At the conclusion of the war most war orders will cease and it is not probable that the manufacturing industry will be able to maintain such a high level of employment unless the tremendous wartime expansion of Canada's foreign trade can be maintained," the brief continued.

It was expected that many of the women now employed in industry would return to their homes or other occupations.

Young Seaman Honored For Bravery After Vessel Was Torpedoed

London.—The London Gazette announced that George Alvin Decker, 21-year-old Vancouver merchant seaman, has been awarded the British Empire medal for helping to save shipmates after his vessel was torpedoed last autumn.

Safe in a lifeboat, Decker left it to swim to a second which had capsized and helped to right it and rescue sailors struggling in the water.

The youth at present is working in a war factory to earn money to send home an English bride he met during an air raid in Hull when both took shelter in a doorway.

The government had arranged to take title to the Abasand operation without compensation to the company, and $500,000 would be spent on plant improvements. Everything possible was to be done to put the plant in operating condition for its present rate of capacity as a pilot plant.

After the plant had been used for experiments it could either be bought by the government or handed back.

"We hope to have a small commercial operation as a by-product of the research this summer in producing bituminous material for use in Alaska highway, so that there will be some revenue to offset the expenditure," he said.

R.C.A.F. Flight Sergeant Spent Leave Fighting With Infantry

With the British Eighth Army in Tunisia.—Emulating the mail man who took a walk on his day off, Flt. Sgt. John L. Swift, of the R.C.A.F., who has been flying night bomber missions against Axis territory, got leave and went into battle with the British infantry because he "wanted to see what battle was like."

He found just what he was seeking when a battalion of the famous Scottish Black Watch attacked and won Italian strongholds at the Wadi el Akhart line north of Gabes, and then staved off sharp German counter-attacks.

Swift went with them armed with a rifle and bayonet, and participated in the successful onslaught. He lay seven hours in a slit trench swept by artillery, machine-gun and rifle fire.

Finally he seized an abandoned Italian sub machine-gun and shot up an Italian patrol with it on his way back at dusk.

Swift, from Missoula, Mont., joined the R.C.A.F. at Montreal before the U.S. entry into the war and has flown a Wellington bomber in the R.A.F. Middle East command for eight months.

No Decision On Wheat Sales To United States

Ottawa.—Trade Minister MacKinnon said that discussions on the possible sale of Canadian wheat to the United States have been under way at Washington but "no finality" has been reached.

He said he could give no information on possible amounts involved in any sale, and could not confirm one report that about 50,000,000 bushels of Canadian grain would be involved in the transaction.

Railway transportation required for the movement of grain is a matter of equal concern in Canada and the United States, Mr. MacKinnon said.

George McIvor, Canadian wheat board chairman, has been in Washington and was believed to be discussing a prospective sale with United States authorities.

The railway transportation problem, due to the limited number of cars available to meet extraordinary war demands in addition to civilian traffic, might have a bearing on United States purchases of Canadian grain. It was understood.

Stocks of the five principal Canadian grain crops held in all North American positions—including stocks on Canadian farms—totalled 1,389,511,567 bushels at March 31, compared with 735,315,483 bushels a year earlier, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported.

"Wheat accounted for 798,000,000 bushels or 57 per cent. of the total, but the stocks of oats and barley, especially the supplies still in farmers' hands, were unusually large, reflecting the record crops produced in 1942," the bureau said.

"It should be noted, however, that seed for the 1943 crops is included in the farm stocks and the acreage objectives for wheat, oats, barley, rye and flaxseed this year call for the planting of approximately 44,000,000 acres to these crops."

The bureau said the estimates of 1942 crops are subject to further revision. Threshing operations involving grain still in the fields when winter struck western Canada "may have an important bearing on these estimates and on the stocks now reported in farmers' hands, both of which include an allowance for unthreshed grain."

"A new high level of wheat stocks at the end of March is recorded for this year," the bureau said. The total of 790,000,000 bushels is Canada compared with 551,000,000 bushels a year previous. The quantity in store or in transit in the United States was 8,200,000 bushels compared with 15,000,000 bushels March 31, 1942.

"Stocks on farms in the three prairie provinces, which include seed for the 1943 crop, are reported at the high figure of 357,000,000 bushels, which compares with the revised total of 98,000,000 bushels a year earlier."

When the ceremony was finished she climbed atop a tank to inspect the turret and asked to be shown how it worked.

RATIONING FOUR

HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Rationing in Canada is not so new after all, for Dr. Gustave Lanctot, keeper of public records in Ottawa, finds it dates back intermittently about four hundred years. During the French regime in Canada there were price ceilings, frozen rents and restrictions on exports and subsidies. The first record of rationing was found in 1542, when the daily allowance for four persons was two loaves of bread and a half pound of beef. Peas were rationed in 1623. During the seven years' war which saw the end of New France, there was a veritable famine in Canada. Soldiers were rationed to a pound of bread, quarter pound of peas and quarter pound of pork a day. This was later made half pound of bread, half pound of beef, half pound horse meat and quarter pound of peas.

SYMPATHY WILL NOT SAVE LIVES OF JEWS IN EUROPE

The Jews of Europe are being killed off, in many cases to the last man. The rest of the world, callous to Jewish suffering and staggered by the immensity of the war, has little attention or care to give the Jews. At best, there is a word of sympathy and a promise of retribution to the guilty after the war. But this is not enough. Sympathy does not save lives and promises of punishment do not halt the mass killings now going on. Canadian Jews are organized with the knowledge of this situation. They seek a course of action and ask their government to act in this matter.

MUST BUY BONDS

Beer or no beer, we must buy bonds. Though there is discontent over the rationing of beer, particularly in places where there are large numbers of industrial workers, this should not be the cause of men refusing to buy bonds. If we do not buy bonds, we are not helping the war effort, and win or lose, we are all in the same boat. We simply must put up with inconveniences, which after all are small compared with the loss of a home or being bombed to death.

Buying bonds is a good form of saving, with a return on the money in the form of interest. It is good business to buy bonds, as well as a patriotic gesture. To cry "No beer, no bonds," is petty.—Es.

WHERE CANADIAN

MEAT IS GOING

Need for rationing of meat is borne out in the statement that 40 per cent of our meat from inspected slaughterings in 1943 will be required for the United Kingdom.

Canadian produced meat also goes to the armed services, ships' stores, Red Cross, Newfoundland, British West Indies and the Alaska highway.

Canada must also be prepared to meet increasing demands for meat shipments to the United Nations.

These needs must be met first, then state officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

HOW MUCH Did You Save LAST YEAR?

One of these days a man will call on you to talk to you about saving money. The caller will be one of your neighbors, or a man from your nearest town who is likely well known to you.

He is asking you to save money when he asks you to buy a Victory Bond. He is not asking you to give money to anybody or anything.

You save money when you buy a Victory Bond . . . and you lend your money to Canada to help win the war. The money you save is yours. You will get it back later on, and have it to do anything you wish with it. And Canada will pay you 3% interest on your savings every year until the loan is paid back to you.

TAKE A FEW MINUTES TO FIGURE OUT HOW YOU ARE GETTING ALONG

This is something that every man should do now and then.

You will see how you are getting along by comparing savings with earnings. It's what you save that counts.

Perhaps you will say you saved all you could. Did you? Remember you are asking yourself questions. You are not getting figures to show anyone but yourself. Can you figure out how you can save more?

A sure way to save money is to save it in small sums—as you get it. Victory Bonds—which can be paid for in small instalments covering a six-months' period—provide a convenient method of carrying out a savings programme. Your Victory Bond salesman will tell you all particulars.

WHAT IS A VICTORY BOND?

A VICTORY BOND is the promise of the Dominion of Canada to repay in cash the full face value of the Bond at the time stipulated, with half-yearly interest at the rate of 3% per annum until maturity. A Victory Bond is the safest investment in Canada. The entire resources of the Dominion stand behind it. Canada has been issuing bonds for 75 years, and has never failed to pay every dollar of principal and interest. A Victory Bond is an asset more readily converted into cash than any other security.

It is made out of iron ore, and pig iron that can turn out 200 tons of steel ingots.

A mill that can turn out 500 tons of steel ingots is not made out of thin air. It is made out of iron ore, and pig iron that can turn out 500 tons of steel ingots.

MORE steel is needed for more ships, more tanks, more planes, more guns, more munitions.

Canada right now is faced with a shortage of iron and steel. During the first months of 1940, Canada produced about 1,500,000 tons of steel ingots during the first months of 1941, she produced more than 1,750,000 tons of steel ingots; during the first nine months of 1942, she MUST produce over 2,000,000 tons of steel ingots.

Steel is not made out of thin air. It is made out of iron ore, and pig iron, and scrap iron and steel. A mill that can turn out 500 tons in a given time using iron ore and pig iron can turn out 500 tons using pig iron and scrap metal.

THIS IS WHERE YOU CAN HELP!

Dig out every piece of scrap iron and steel you can lay your hands on! Get it to Canada's war industries through your Salvage Committee. DO IT NOW! No piece of scrap iron or steel is too small! EVERY POUND COUNTS!

Needs Private Fortune

Expense For London's Lord Mayor Exceeds Salary Paid

Sir William Phene Neal, Lord Mayor of London in 1930-31, died penniless, said his niece, Mrs. Kathleen M. Canning. He bequeathed £661 to Mrs. Canning, but she said that she will receive nothing. Mrs. Canning added: "This was due to the cost of his office as Lord Mayor, as well as the fact that, because of the war, his solicitor's business disappeared."

"I know of two other Lord Mayors of London who have died without any money in the last ten years."

The Lord Mayor of London has an allowance of £12,500 a year, but it is estimated that the cost of upholding the office demands at least a further £10,000 from his own pocket.—London Daily Sketch.

Community Feeding

Would Be Good Peacetime Project Said Mrs. Donald Gordon

Community feeding as a peacetime project as well as a wartime project, for large Canadian cities was proposed by Mrs. Donald Gordon, wife of the Prices Board head, who already is feeding 7,000 Ottawa workers daily in three cafeterias just outside the capital limits.

"I would like to think community feeding is here to stay," she told a press conference. "In places like Ottawa, where presumably there will always be many workers, there is no other solution to the problem."

THE RISEN LORD (Easier Lesson)

Golden text: He is risen. Mark 16:8.

Lesson: John 20:1-17.

Devotional Reading: I Corinthians 15:50-58.

Explanations and Comments

Mary Magdalene Discovers that the Body of Christ Is Not in The Tomb. John 20:1-8. A stone had been placed at the entrance to the tomb in which the body of the crucified Savior had been placed (Mark 15:46), and when Mary Magdalene visited the tomb early Sunday morning she found the stone removed. She hastened to tell Peter and John (John always refers to himself in his Gospel as "the disciple whom Jesus loved"). They [his enemies] have taken away the Lord out of the tomb, and we know not where they have laid him," she cried.

Peter and John Verify Mary's Discovery. John 20:9-10. Peter and John ran to the tomb. John outran Peter and reached there first. He looked into the tomb wondering why and presently, and saw the folded linen cloths that had been wrapped around the body of Christ, but did not enter. Then impetuous Peter came up and at once rushed into the tomb to see—and doubtless touch—the linen cloths rolled up and the napkin, which had been about the Savior's face, not lying with them but rolled up elsewhere. Had friends removed the body they would have taken the cloths with them; had it been done by enemies, they would not have stopped to roll them up. Leisurely and orderly had been Christ's departure.

Mary Magdalene Meets the Risen Lord. John 20:11-17. Mary had followed Peter and John back to the tomb and had remained outside weeping. Looking into the tomb after they had left, she saw two angels clothed in white and sitting where the body of Jesus had lain. The Greek word for "angel" means a messenger, one who is sent with a message, and their message for Mary was, "Woman, why weepest thou? There was no cause for weeping, but great cause for rejoicing—the Lord had risen! Mary answered in the same words she had used to Peter and John. "It is as if these words had been the unceasing rhythm of her thoughts all the time. She could think of nothing else. She was magnetized by sorrow" (R. C. Gillie).

"John's insight taught him first to conclude that his Lord had risen: Mary's want brought her Lord first to satisfy it; for as she turned she beheld Jesus standing, but she did not recognize him, her eyes being dim with tears."

GEMS OF THOUGHT

FALSEHOOD

Falsehoods not only disagree with truths, but usually quarrel among themselves.—Daniel Webster.

No species of falsehood is more frequent than flattery; to which the coward is betrayed by fear, the dependent by interest, and the friend by tenderness.—Caleb C. Colton.

The telling of a falsehood is like the cut of a sabre; for though the wound may heal, the scar of it will remain.—Saadi.

By using falsehood to regain his liberty, Galileo virtually lost it. He cannot escape from barriers who commits his moral sense to a dungeon.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Falsehood, like the dry rot, flourishes the more in proportion as air and light are excluded.—Richard Whately.

Round dealing is the honor of man's nature; and a mixture of falsehood is like alloy in gold and silver, which may make the metal work the better, but it embaseth it.—Francis Bacon.

WILL LOSE THEIR IDOL

Berlin Radio proclaims that more than a million boys and girls who had reached the age of 14 were sworn into the Hitler Youth Organization recently. Before they reach maturity, says the Montreal Gazette, it is altogether likely that the little recruits will have lost their idol, together with the cause into which their innocence they have been inveigled.

British corvettes in the 18th century were miniature frigates, designed to protect the larger ships of the line.

In ancient Egypt, slaves and the poorer people usually had no shoes.

Giraud Speaks

General Henri Giraud, high commissioner of French North Africa, is shown as he broadcasts his proclamation of the post-war aims of the French nation.

What Is Private Enterprise?

"It is the natural desire to make your own way, as far as your ability will take you; an instinct that has brought to this continent the highest standard of life enjoyed by any people on earth. It is the spirit of democracy on the march . . ."

The above statement, taken from an advertisement recently run by the Royal Bank of Canada, is one that should be memorized by the general public. So often a basic thought is clothed in "whereas" and "be it so ruled", etc., etc., that no one knows when they get through reading just what the writer meant. What propaganda, war or communistic, dare stand up against clear statements like the above which you know to be true?

We congratulate the Royal Bank of Canada and hope they have set a pattern for other advertisers to follow. We need reminders of primary truths.

The next day she quietly engaged a lawyer and within several weeks she had obtained annulment of her marriage from one John Smith, who on a date some years back had disappeared and never been heard from since.

Unaware of this drama in his "secretary's" life, Smith permitted himself to dream and be happy with Kitty. Their wedding day drew close and one afternoon Kitty asked him to come to the church with her for a rehearsal of the ceremony.

The organist was playing softly. Suddenly, madly, the song was, "Oh Perfect Love." Smith felt excitement course through his veins. He stared through Kitty. That song, it seemed to be tearing him apart. Who was this girl with him? She had no place in his life.

A moment later he was aware that Kitty was sitting in one of the pew crying softly. He brought himself back to reality. "Kitty what is it?" She shook her head. "It's no use. I've known it from the beginning. You belong to someone in the past. It's no use deceiving ourselves."

His voice was harsh. "I love you, Kitty. You're promised to marry me. I want that. I need that." She held to his hand. "Charles just now you look at me as if I were a stranger, an intrusive stranger trying to take the place of someone else, someone you love and never love me." She tried for a lighter tone. "It's all right, Charles. I shan't go into a tragic mood. But it's over. It must be."

He stared at her. "I'm bewildered. I don't know what to say." Her voice was low. "You don't have to say anything. I was nearly the one but it didn't come off. Goodbye Charles—good luck."

CHAPTER III

It was from Smith's office assistant, Harrison, that Paula learned the news of the broken betrothal. Something tightened inside her but she made no comment.

Early one morning, however, her calm left her. A letter had arrived offering Charles Rainer a seat in Parliament. He must consent to stand in the Liberal interests, however, and his election would be a hard fight but a worthwhile one. Strangely he wasn't in his office... nor at home. At last Paula located him in Liverpool. He had gone there last night. Without hesitation, she took the next train.

It was Smith himself who opened the door of his hotel suite to her. "I'm sorry Miss Ransom. He seemed distraught. I should have let you know where I was." Then, in a shaking voice, he explained. "Miss Ransom, you know of my experience here in Liverpool many years ago. I told you all about it. Yesterday I came back here to try to trace through the past to what I'm convinced was the most vital part of my life."

He turned away. "But it wasn't any use. I've tramped the docks, the station yards, the streets. I've gone through the hotels. There's no clue. No hint of anything around here in my memory."

For a moment she had been alive with hope. Now she said dully, "I'm terribly sorry. It must have been a great disappointment." Quickly then she told him about the seat in Parliament.

He listened, nodded and said in a hard voice, "Very well. Send a word to the Liberal Committee and tell them I accept. Also, there's an expression to London at eight fifteen. Suppose you make reservations."

It was a sunny day in early October when Charles Rainer was in his office. The Liberal seat in Parliament. Scores of friends came to congratulate him on the terrace of the House of Commons but nothing seemed worthwhile until Margaret Ransom arrived. They left together and went to a quiet restaurant for lunch.

"Quickly, Smith came to the point. "Miss Ransom," he said. "I have a proposal to make. I need your help in my parliamentary life. You may think this is outrageous but after all, you and I are both ghost-ridden. You seem to have forgotten it and I—well, you know. We're prisoners of our past."

He leaned across the table. "But what if we were to pool our interests? Give each other support? Friendship?" He forced himself on but it was anticipated. She was a lovely creature, full of life to her red hair. Why should she be so pale, this—merger? Give up all thought of a future love? But he had started. He would not admit this to his marriage, Miss Ransom. I'd make no mistake, this is outrageous but after all, you and I are both ghost-ridden. You seem to have forgotten it and I—well, you know. We're prisoners of our past."

He patted her hand. "But you will think of it. I'll call you at nine tonight. I hope it will be yes. I sincerely hope so Margaret."

Nine o'clock that evening came. Fervently, she paced the floor. So he was offering her a merger. What a fantastic situation. She would be her own rival. His subconscience moored in fidelity to Paula. And Paula was the woman from whom she must try to win him.

The telephone rang. She picked up the receiver. "Oh... hello Charles." Her voice was low. "The answer is 'Yes.' Anytime. As soon as you like."

They were married soon after that, very quietly. Paula became the most distinguished social matron of the season. It added no less to her prestige that she was the Prime Minister's favorite and because of him neighborhood was bestowed on her husband. Now Paula was Lady Charles Rainer.

Through it all though she was unhappy and gay in turn. Sometimes her husband would look at her in a way that made her feel he was just on the brink of discovering her. That the look would fade and she would be numb with despair again.

They had given a brilliant ball one evening. It had lasted quite late and with the departure of everyone, they ascended the stairs to their apartments. Smith lingered in her sitting room. "You know," he said softly, "it's nearly morning. The morning of May 25th. Does that mean anything to you?"

Her eyes lighted. "Yes, it's the anniversary of our wedding—our third anniversary."

He nodded then reached into his pocket and brought out a case, snapping it open. A magnificent diamond and emerald necklace was revealed.

Canadian Pacific Airlines Sees Possibilities of Commercial Helicopter

"When the present small but practical helicopter is developed into a large commercial machine with pay load possibilities it will have a definite place in Canada's air picture and particularly along northern routes operated by this company," states C. H. Dickens, vice-president and general manager of Canadian Pacific Air Lines.

Announcement by Mr. Dickens that Canadian Pacific Air Lines has been closely following the development of this newest type of air equipment and intends to operate it when available, is the first indication that helicopters will be used in Canada. Mr. Dickens states that the United States is already satisfied that the helicopter is a practical air transport vehicle and has many advantages especially in rescue and salvage operations.

It is felt that it will be an invaluable type of equipment in mountainous or difficult country particularly along the Arctic coast and Canadian Pacific Air Lines intends to add helicopters to its fleet for operations which prevail under the difficult flying conditions in Canada's northern coastal regions. Widespread public attention is being given to the success which the helicopter has made to date and many aviation enthusiasts foresee a big future for this type of equipment in the post-war period.

In addition to its peculiar advantages for rescue operations and flying along the northern routes of Canada, it is quite possible that it will find its place in short inter-urban runs as an aerial taxi service.

ACCEPT INVITATION

Washington.—Eight more governments have notified the American government they will participate in the international food conference scheduled to begin in U.S. April 27. This makes a total of 17 acceptances, including Canada's, thus far received. Invitations were sent to 42 governments.
